COCA-COLA

As a result of our team's ability to offer a unique combination of expertise and experience, displayLED was chosen to deliver technology upgrades to Europe's highest profile LED screen, the Coca-Cola display in London's Piccadilly Circus.

The project comprised two parts: first was the implementation of the upgrade, designed to improve efficiency, provide additional functionality and enhance the screen's overall uniformity; followed by the implementation of a routine maintenance programme.

We were delighted to be given the opportunity to demonstrate the depth of our specialist LED screen knowledge and representatives from Coca-Cola were delighted with the results of the refurbishment and upgrade.

"The Coca-Cola display in Piccadilly Circus is one of the most recognisable in the world, so it is crucial that it continues to stand out from the crowd. By upgrading and refurbishing the screen, the displayLED team has ensured that Coca-Cola continues to dominate Piccadilly Circus's eye line," says Tim Ellerton of Coca-Cola.

ARSENAL'S EMIRATES STADIUM

Representing the interests of several leading LED manufacturers, we worked closely with Arsenal's project managers AYH to advise on all the LED requirements needed to complete the Gunners' £375m stadium.

We arranged 'shoot-outs' and comparisons to determine the most suitable solutions for all the club's LED display requirements. Following our advice, the stadium took delivery of two video screens, perimeter advertising displays and LED clocks.

"The LED big screens, perimeter advertising and halfway line clocks have significantly enhanced the Club's commercial partner matchday inventory and are integrated well within the Emirates Stadium complex. The displayLED team's specialist knowledge and experience was invaluable in our decision making and we now rely on their skills for match day LED screen support." Nick Harford, Arsenal.
